PHYSICAL DEMANDS:

Any profession in the beauty industry requires a certain degree of dexterity. Nearly all positions involve working with the general public, so people skills are very important. Physical strain could develop in the fingers, hands, and wrists. There is a lot of exposure to various chemicals and cosmetologists might also expect to spend a lot of time standing.

SAFETY REQUIREMENTS:

You will be working with potentially dangerous chemicals; so during certain applications, it may be necessary to wear gloves (such as while applying a perm, relaxer, or hair color), eye protection (such as while using a nail drill), or a facial mask (such as while applying artificial nails). Sanitation, diseases and disorders of the scalp, skin and nails, and anatomy represent a portion of your education to train you how to properly sanitize your equipment from one client to the next to prevent the spread of communicable diseases and disorders; which you might be exposed to from time to time. You will also learn proper use of equipment to avoid injury (such as avoiding cutting skin/ears, avoiding damaging the nail from using a nail drill, etc.).
